

Conversational Killer

OVER KILL

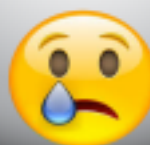

To go overboard either emotionally or with information with something that didn't need it.

Conversational Killer

SOB STORY

To tell a story that you have told to everyone about some painful experience you had with no intention to heal, only to get sympathy.

Conversational Killer

FREAK OUT

To be out of emotional control to such a degree that everything around you becomes chaotic.

Conversational Killer

POOR ME

To speak endlessly about how the world is doing you in without taking any responsibility.

Conversational Killer

HI-JACK

To take over a conversation from the original intention of the group.

Conversational Killer

OVERWHELM

To give too much information at either a rapid pace or at too high a level (or both).
